From the Master

It is a real pleasure to introduce this year's Impact Report with a few words about everything that has been happening in College since the Future Foundations Campaign closed last year.

Future Foundations was an enormously successful campaign which exceeded every target. The full extent of that success became even clearer in October 2022 when the New Library won the Stirling Prize awarded by the Royal Institute of British Architects, something never before achieved by a College at Oxford or Cambridge. The enthusiastic response from our students, who have clearly enjoyed using the Library from the day it opened, was heart-warming.

It has been a delight to see the way in which so many of our students have thrown themselves into every aspect of College and University life. A full Hall has resounded to happy and enthusiastic voices. There has been a string of successes in sport, where four members of the Magdalene Boat Club were part of the Cambridge crews which achieved a clean sweep at the Boat Race, and we can boast Blues and Half Blues in a wide range of other sports. Magdalene students have won major music competitions and taken shows to the Edinburgh Fringe, while the choir has had a very successful overseas tour.

Magdalene alumni and supporters have continued to respond with incredible generosity to other College needs, enabling us to strengthen our pastoral team by appointing a Head of Student Wellbeing, endowing some very important bursaries and supporting Modern Languages students during their year abroad. We have also seen the first major donation in support of the project to restore the Pepys Building. The total received is significantly above the target for the year and in the Telephone Campaign our student callers raised far more than has ever been done before. My warmest thanks go to all our donors as well as to the Development Office team whose hard work has made this possible.

These are not easy times for universities and the College faces many challenges in the year ahead but I am confident that we can face them with your loyalty and support; thank you so much.

Sir Christopher Greenwood, Master

COLLEGE FINANCES AND INVESTMENTS

The financial year of 2022–23 (1 July 2022 to 30 June 2023) is the first not to include an element of Covid-19 related government restrictions. Thus, as we compare it to the previous financial year (which was subject to some restrictions), there are large increases in both income and expenditure reflecting positive changes as everyday life in College and more generally economic activity is returning to 'normal'. For example, our students were able to be in residence throughout the year and equally, the College's commercial property rental income recovered from the very tough impact of the pandemic and at last, some conference activity (in summer 2022) was possible once again.

However, the invasion of Ukraine in February 2022 and the consequential significant rise in inflation has led to immediate pressures on the cost of delivering College services, as energy, food, construction, and labour related costs form the basis of College expenditure. Staffing costs have also risen significantly against a backdrop of a shortage of key labour in professional services and hospitality. To support our staff, the College enhanced the general Higher Education sector's pay settlement by giving two additional bonuses and staffing costs have increased by 23% when compared to the previous year reflecting this significant wage growth. The College also responded to the cost-of-living crisis for our students by increasing bursaries by 10% to ensure students in the most financial need had their maintenance income increase with inflation.

Given the impact of inflation and the consequential interest rate policy by central banks on investment markets, the College endowment had performed relatively well by the end of the financial year. The endowment consists of broadly two portfolios, half in commercial property and the other half in global securities. Income performed well and it averaged an overall investment composite strong positive return over the year. The size of the endowment, including new donation capital, increased from £94m to £101m at the start of the year.

The problem for the College, and indeed other Cambridge Colleges and more generally universities, is that it's proven impossible for growth of income to match the unavoidable cost increases. The College's revenue (unrestricted) financial account is in deficit, and this is forecast to continue in the short term. Thus, if income over the next year is negative then general reserves will have to be used to fund the gap. We are making real efforts to streamline services without harming the student experience and the College is also examining ways to enhance different income streams.

COLLEGE INCOME

The College is fortunate to have a relatively diversified income stream, and this includes income from its long-term endowment, tuition fees, provision of residential accommodation to students, commercial conferences, and donations from Members. All together this amounted to £15m over the course of the 2022–23 financial year.

College income grew by over 17% when compared to 2021–22 but it should be noted that this sum does include £1.8m of capital donations for investment in the endowment. Tuition fee income has been largely stable throughout and since the pandemic. However, this having been a normal academic year, income from student rents has increased as has the demand for College catering which resulted in large increases for these two income streams. Income from our Endowment has largely recovered and pleasingly largely held up despite turbulent financial markets in 2022 arising from inflationary concerns. Conference activity returned in summer 2022 although only at modest levels when compared to pre-pandemic activity. Our total philanthropic income from Members was hugely positive this year and we are enormously grateful for the continued generosity. Support was received for student welfare, the Magdalene Bursary Scheme, buildings, and gardens with a particular emphasis on the significant forthcoming restoration project of the Pepys Building.

College Income for the Financial Year of 2022–23
(1 July 2022 to 30 June 2023)

COLLEGE EXPENDITURE

College expenditure increased to £13.5m and was more than 15% higher than the previous year. The College increased its spending on teaching, tutorial support and student welfare by more than £800,000 and this included a full year of additional costs for the New Library. This increase obviously reflects the return to normal academic activities at Magdalene and the increase of every bursary awarded by 10% to reflect rising living costs but also the sometimes steep rise in prices for all types of expenditure.

The costs of running the College estate have increased very substantially as global inflation seriously impacted energy and maintenance costs. Catering costs grew enormously with both strong demand from resident Members and from food price inflation and rising labour costs due to the considerable shortages in hospitality staff.

Although the pace of inflation is expected to fall back over the course of 2023, food and commodity pricing and an ongoing tight labour market are all likely to continue to lead to growing expenditure for the College's operational costs. This means that it will be necessary for the College to carefully and thoughtfully manage expenditure and protect our services for our students. The ongoing support of our Members is hugely appreciated as it helps us to navigate this challenging financial climate.

Mr Steven Morris, Senior Bursar

From the Development Director

It is always a challenge to predict how the first year following a really successful campaign might go in terms of fundraising, particularly this year when we had the cost-of-living crisis to contend with. However, my concerns that some of our donors might be fatigued proved to be unfounded as we raised a fantastic total of £3,757,932! This means that we raise £7.50 for every single pound spent on alumni and development activities. This great return is not only testament to the loyalty, generosity and commitment of our Members, but it also underlines the importance of philanthropy for the College. Readers can see the impact of donations in the detailed figures we share throughout these pages. What is clear is that every gift, large or small, enhances what Magdalene can do for its resident community. Your donations help to improve the facilities we offer and the financial assistance we can provide strengthens our teaching and pastoral provision.

The Student Welfare and Mental Health Fund was launched; we were delighted by the response and College was able to welcome the new Head of Student Wellbeing as a direct result of the donations received. We have had some significant gifts for new funds, such as the Carne MML Fund established to offer support to students taking the Year Abroad; the Caldecott Bursary Fund set up to assist international students who find themselves struggling to make ends meet and the RF Kuang Fund to provide one generous annual bursary to support a budding writer during the summer vacation. We were lucky enough to receive a significant final gift to name the last remaining room in the New Library and a first major gift for the Pepys Restoration project which will be our focus in the coming year.

The College is fortunate in that so many of you choose to support us year after year whether with one off gifts, regular gifts or indeed making arrangements to remember Magdalene in your will. Your continued benevolence and generosity mean so much, make such a difference and I do hope that you will take a great deal of pride in the collective achievement of the global Magdalene community detailed in these pages. Thank you.

Your Impact

Members' continued generosity helps the College remain fully committed to the principle of needs blind admission.

By removing financial barriers, we can ensure that the brightest and best students feel confident to apply to Magdalene and Cambridge, regardless of their financial circumstances. Students, safe in the knowledge that those eligible will receive a bursary, can focus on their studies, take part in extra-curricular activities, enjoy a May Ball, and, most importantly, feel like everyone else at Cambridge.

Your help creates a level playing field for our students. Thank you.

ENHANCING MAGDALENE BURSARIES

In response to the growing financial challenges faced by an increasing number of undergraduate students, Magdalene took proactive steps by introducing a top-up bursary programme. This has been made possible through the generous contributions of our alumni. The Bursary uplift, in conjunction with our existing full and partial undergraduate bursaries, significantly enhances the financial support available to students eligible for bursary support.

Your invaluable assistance alleviates the monetary concerns of students but also helps to mitigate economic obstacles that often deter potential students from applying. This, in turn, enables us to attract the most exceptional and talented individuals.

The continued donations from Members supporting the Magdalene Bursary Scheme have enabled the College to enhance its bursary provisions, guaranteeing that students in need can focus on their academic pursuits and fully participate in all that Magdalene and Cambridge have to offer.

“When my father, Bernard, died in 2021 we wanted to mark his passing with a legacy that honoured his lifelong commitment to education. Bernard was the child of factory workers and by going to grammar school he was able to win a place at the University of Manchester, making him the first person in his family to do so. Bernard spent his whole professional life as a teacher and Headteacher in the state system and firmly believed in the transformative power of education. I believe he would have been proud to know that the Bursary in his name could support current students as they seek to realise their full potential.”

Mr Andrew Cross (1985)

STUDENT WELFARE AND MENTAL HEALTH FUND

The pressures on students in Cambridge are greater than ever before. We acknowledge the evolving challenges related to student mental health and are dedicated to enhancing our student welfare resources. Over the past five years, there has been a significant increase in student demand for counselling services, driven by shifting attitudes toward mental health awareness and the additional strain caused by the pandemic.

To tackle this issue, the College established the Student Welfare and Mental Health Fund, with the aim of strengthening student well-being and providing timely access to the necessary assistance.

Passionately supported by Members, the fund has provided the financial assistance needed to establish a dedicated Head of Student Welfare and to provide resources for students, tutors and staff, to better understand mental health and offer specialist advice and counselling that is not available through the central University services.

The College's goal is to provide comprehensive student welfare and mental health support, assisting students in navigating challenges and ensuring a rewarding academic, extracurricular, and personal experience here at Magdalene. This initiative underscores our commitment to fostering a nurturing and supportive environment, empowering students to effectively manage challenges and thrive both academically and personally.

THE CARNE MML FUND

Mr Philip Carne (1958) has generously established the Carne MML Fund in support of language students undertaking the Year Abroad as part of the Modern and Medieval Languages (MML), History and Modern Languages (H&ML), and Asian and Middle Eastern Studies (AMES) undergraduate courses.

The aim of the Carne MML Fund is not only to address financial difficulties experienced by students during their Year Abroad, a required component of their language training, but also to ensure that no potential applicant is deterred by the additional costs. The fund's purpose is to encourage applications from all language enthusiasts, regardless of their financial circumstances.

"I was fortunate to enjoy a long international business career, with postings in various countries, in some of which I was able to speak the languages I had studied at Magdalene many years ago. The loss of the excellent Erasmus programme which facilitated the year of overseas study potentially discourages students with limited means from pursuing a language course.

It is my ambition that the new Carne MML Fund will plug the gap between the two schemes, encouraging more language students to apply to Magdalene, whatever their means, so they have the chance to study overseas for a year, both gaining language fluency and enjoying the rich cultural benefits of that study experience."

THE DUNCAN ROBINSON CURATORIAL STUDENTSHIP

The College has established a new fund, the Duncan Robinson Curatorial Studentship for Art Historians, in honour of Mr Duncan Robinson CBE, the former Master of Magdalene, to create a lasting memorial in his name at Magdalene.

It is testament to the great affection Duncan was held in that a generous donor pledged a substantial gift to launch the fund and will also match every gift received, up to a total of £100,000.

The Duncan Robinson Curatorial Studentship once fully endowed will be awarded annually to a postgraduate Art Historian, in perpetuity.

Magdalene's postgraduate student population has grown exponentially; the College is home to a vibrant and engaging community of 250 postgraduate students, and we want to ensure that no one is deterred from continuing their studies due to financial reasons.

Recent years have presented increased challenges in securing financial support for postgraduate students, particularly in the fields of Arts and Humanities. External funding opportunities have become increasingly scarce, and while government loans and limited Research Council funding are available, they only cover a portion of the actual costs associated with postgraduate studies and often come with time constraints.

TELEPHONE CAMPAIGN

Each year Magdalene holds a Telephone Campaign connecting student callers with alumni across the world.

We are proud to report that this was the most successful telethon ever with over £394,000 raised in just two weeks. Donors supported funds including student welfare and mental health, undergraduate and postgraduate support and restoration of the Pepys Building. All gifts have a significant impact on the College's ability to provide financial support to students in need, ensuring that the brightest and best are able to study at Magdalene.

The Telephone Campaign is a vital part of the College's regular fundraising programme; our callers spoke with over 1,000 alumni from 40 countries! We are most grateful for the time you took to speak with our students who thoroughly enjoyed the opportunity to speak with so many Members and hear your Magdalene stories. I hope you will agree that the success of the telethon is testament to the enduring connection between Magdalene students, past and present.

Access and Outreach

During the 2022–2023 academic year, Magdalene delivered an ambitious programme of outreach events designed to inspire young people with academic potential and enthusiasm to consider applying to competitive universities including Cambridge.

Our Access and Outreach programmes, many of which are funded in part by donations from Members, support students through their educational journey, from school visits in younger years to residential programs for Year 12–13 students.

The Schools Liaison Officer works closely with schools in Magdalene's Link Areas of Merseyside, North Wales, and the Isle of Man, as well as coordinating in-person and virtual programmes for students across the UK.

Here are just a few examples of programmes we have been proud to deliver in the last year:

LINK AREA EVENTS

Magdalene's biennial Liverpool Event was held at the Merseyside Maritime Museum in March. Over 350 Year 10 and 11 students from 30 schools attended lectures from Professor Tom Licence (1999) and Professor Cecilia Brasset (2009), as well as a Q&A with current Magdalene students from Merseyside and North Wales. Magdalene's Schools Liaison Officer regularly visits schools in Merseyside, North Wales, and the Isle of Man to run workshops on topics including A Level subject choices and the UCAS application process, as well as representing the University of Cambridge at regional Higher Education Fairs.

“Our students were buzzing when they came home from the Liverpool Event! It really gave them direction, and many are now intending to visit Cambridge.”

UNDER-REPRESENTED ETHNIC GROUPS IN ENGINEERING RESIDENTIAL

Twenty Year 12 students spent an exciting three days at Magdalene and the Department of Engineering in August, undertaking a range of hands-on activities to gain an insight into studying Engineering at undergraduate level. The participants, all belonging to ethnic groups currently underrepresented at the University of Cambridge, attended a formal dinner and undertook the traditional Magdalene Engineering Challenge.

90% of participants were eligible for Free Schools Meals or Pupil Premium, and 55% would be the first in their family to attend university.

“I am grateful for the opportunity to experience a supervision, the small group environment gave me the confidence to be more vocal.”

Engineering Residential Participant

“The staff and student helpers were so kind and approachable and were always willing to answer questions.”

Engineering Residential Participant

“It was a great, action-packed, and unforgettable experience for the attendees. I am really glad that I was a part of it!”

Engineering Residential Student Helper

“I was able to attend Magdalene and my sixth form because of a bursary and a scholarship that enabled people who otherwise couldn’t afford to attend. These changed the trajectory of my life and I believe in the power of education to do that for others but first you need access and to be able to afford it. As such gifts like this enabling residentials hopefully start getting that ball rolling for people who, traditionally, might not have had the chance to attend Magdalene and Cambridge.”

MAGDALENE RESIDENTIAL

The annual Magdalene Residential returned to an in-person format in April, to give fifty Year 12 students from Merseyside, North Wales, and the Isle of Man the opportunity to spend four days experiencing the life of a Cambridge student. Participants attended academic sessions led by Magdalene Fellows; explored Cambridge Colleges, departments, and museums; and learned about the university application process.

The residential received a record 350 applications for 50 spaces. By the end of the residential, 86% of participants reported that they 'definitely' understood the steps involved in the university application process, compared to 27% at the start of the week.

“It was such an incredible experience! The residential has consolidated my decision to apply to Cambridge.”

Magdalene Residential Participant

“Until this week, I was hesitant that Cambridge was the right environment for me, but it now feels accessible as I have been made to feel so welcome here.”

ARTS AND HUMANITIES ESSAY COMPETITION

Over 110 Year 12 students entered the inaugural Arts and Humanities Essay Competition in April. A panel of Magdalene Fellows set essay questions which offered entrants the opportunity to engage with the breadth of arts and humanities subjects offered at the University of Cambridge. The Schools Liaison Officer hosted three webinars on the researching, planning, and writing stages of producing an academic essay. First Prize was awarded to Edward Morgan from Knaresborough, North Yorkshire, for his response to the question 'Can artificial intelligence create art, and what issues does this raise?'. All winners and their guests were invited to a prize-giving celebration at Magdalene College in September 2023.

"Writing academic essays can feel quite daunting, but the webinar has made the process much clearer and I found it really valuable."

Essay Competition Entrant

"I found the webinar really useful – the amount I learned in an hour was crazy!"

VISITS TO MAGDALENE

The Schools Liaison Officer regularly welcomes visiting school groups to Magdalene, where students learn about the university application process, experience the academic environment and meet current Magdalene Student Ambassadors.

In the last year, Magdalene has worked in partnership with HE+, STEM SMART, The Brilliant Club, The Seren Network, and the Cambridge Physics Experience to enable as many students as possible to visit Cambridge. Magdalene participates in the University Open Days, during which prospective applicants can meet Admissions Tutors, Directors of Studies, and Student Ambassadors to learn more about undergraduate study. 2,500 prospective applicants visited the College during an Open Day in the 2022–23 academic year.

"Our student tour guide was very approachable and her knowledge about the College was unmatched, which has undoubtedly convinced me that applying to Magdalene is the right decision."

Open Day Attendee

"I enjoyed looking around where I could potentially go to university and get a feel for it. The Student Ambassadors were brilliant!"

Thank You

Every gift, large and small, makes a huge difference. There are many ways you can support the College; details can be found online at www.magd.cam.ac.uk/support.

SUPPORTING MAGDALENE

UK Taxpayers

If you are a UK taxpayer, every £100 you donate through Gift Aid is worth £125 to Magdalene. The difference is paid by HM Revenue and Customs at no extra cost to you.

If you pay tax at the higher rate, you can claim the difference between the rate you pay and the basic rate on your donation by filing a self-assessment tax return or by asking HM Revenue and Customs to amend your tax code.

US Taxpayers

US taxpayers can make tax efficient gifts via The Magdalene College Foundation (MCF) a 501(c)3 organisation. Gifts made by US taxpayers to the MCF are tax-deductible to the extent allowed by law and a tax receipt acceptable to the Internal Revenue Service is issued for every donation.

Canadian Taxpayers

The University of Cambridge issue donation receipts accepted by the Canada Revenue Agency for tax purposes on behalf of Magdalene.

For more information, please contact us on +44 (0)1223 32104 or email alumni@magd.cam.ac.uk.

YOUR LEGACY

Leaving a gift for Magdalene is a meaningful way to help the College continue its world-class tuition, pioneering research that advantages society, and backing students from across the globe to achieve their potential.

By joining the increasing number of Members and friends who have pledged to remember Magdalene in their Will, you will be providing opportunities that will have a lasting impact for years to come.

To recognise your generosity, you will be welcomed as a lifetime member of the Buckingham Society where Members are invited to a biennial event hosted by the Master.

If you would like more information about planned giving or wish to discuss your gift in confidence, please contact us on +44 (0)1223 764410 or email development.director@magd.cam.ac.uk.
